He offers these articles to the public at wholesale or retail, and gives the assurance that nobody in the city can compete with the cheapness of his prices. VENAWIX & SCHROEDER,

DRUGGISTS AND APOTHECARIES

AT THE OLD STAND OF SAM'L. VENAWIX,

No. 68, Fifth street, between Main and Market.

Would call the attention of their friends and the public generally to their assortment of Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery, Fancy Articles, &c., which almost every article usually found in an establishment of the kind, which they offer for sale as low for cash or to punctual customers as articles of the kind can be had in the city. Every article sold from our store will be warranted to be genuine, and if it should prove otherwise it will be taken back and the money refunded. We would recommend our establishment particularly to families, physicians, and steamers visiting the city; and, wishing to have only receipts of physicians' prescriptions compounded and accurately filled, we intend to attend to this part of the business personally, and one of the firm will be in the store at all times, both day and night. In this way customers can be assured that prescriptions will not be prepared by inexperienced hands, which we are sorry to say has often been the case. As the senior of the present firm has been in business for the last twenty-five years, and the junior for the last ten years in the former establishment of Schroeder & Venawix, and with Sam'l Venawix, persons can rely on having their demands properly attended to.

OLIVER & KIFFIN

MERCHANT TAILORS, 179 MAIN STREET,

(Successors to Stamper & Kiffin.) 179 Main st.

We are receiving daily our supply of Goods, which, added to those previously received, makes our stock at this time very extensive, but very select. We deem it useless to specify every article we have on hand, but would simply say that our stock embraces French and English Cloths and Cassimeres double, single, and half mixed; French and English Doffings, Satins, Silks; Marseilles Drap D'Ete, and a new article for summer coats (all Wool) called Marseilles Cloth, very light and beautiful. The above enumerated goods comprise a portion of our stock only. Suffice it to say that we have everything new and elegant in design, from those most needed to such as will suit the fancy, a portion of which were selected by Mr. Oliver in person, in the eastern markets from the latest importations, and will be made up to order by us with promptness and fidelity — Our Coats will be cut exclusively by Mr. Kiffin, and the Pantaloons and Vests by Mr. Gaskill, a scientific New York cutter. We can therefore warrant in every case perfect-fitting garments. Call and see us.

OLIVER & KIFFIN.

PIANO-FORTES—TO THE PUBLIC.

WE would respectfully inform all persons who may be about purchasing Piano-Fortes, that we are keeping none for sale except those from the most manufactories from the Atlantic cities. Unrivalled Piano-Fortes have been extensively known through this country, and nearly all Boston, for the last twenty-five or thirty years. They are fully warranted by us, and should a Piano prove in any way defective, we guarantee promptly to refund the money, or replace a perfect instrument if preferred. Besides, every Piano sold from this factory is warranted by Mr. Chickering himself.

G. W. BRAINARD & CO.,

117 Fourth st., Mozart Hall.

N. B. We pay no commission to teachers for their aid, or recommend, to sellers to the parents or guardians of their pupils, or to amateur performers for disparaging other make of instruments and praising ours to their friends and acquaintances. But we reply entirely upon the merit of our Pianos and their well known reputation and intrinsic value, when compared with those of other make, together with the judgment of Mr. G. W. Brainard (a performer) in making our Piano Fortes.

To those who have often asked us why some of the professors and amateur performers and teachers, often, and uniformly, speak against Chickering's Pianos, the above hint will unfold a mystery. We are satisfied that when the public fully understand this commission on Pianos, and that some (most all) of our teachers and amateur performers will be far away the confidence imposed in them for a commission varying from $40 to $60, they will be careful to employ those only to select their instruments who will have an eye to the quality and value of the Piano-Forte, as well as to the amount of the commission. OLIVER & KIFFIN,

DRAPERS AND TAILORS,

NO. 479 MAIN STREET,

LOUISVILLE, KY.

OUR FALL AND WINTER SUPPLY, for 1852 and '3, is both extensive and elegant, and will be made up to order with neatness and despatch.

From the Opera of the "Two Suitors;"

Translated to Main street.

I dreamed that last evening grandeur clad
On a well-dressed beau at her shoe,
And I could not tell why the laughing belle
Had refused to become my bride.
But a single glance at my tuvel's coat
Told me (very flattering to one of the game)
And I said, if the tailor's in town who can do it,
I'll have one exactly the same.
Then I dreamed that I search'd out the town all o'er
For the gem that would win her heart,
Till I found myself standing in front of the store
Where clothing is fashioned by art.
And then I remembered that this was the place
Where the coat of my rival was made,
And, preferring its fashion to any I'd seen,
I lay a hood cloth exactly the shade.
The coat was sent home, and like Cæsar I sped—
I came, and I saw, and I won;
For she smilingly said, when I asked her to wed,
"What an elegant coat you have on."
Three days from that time—perhaps it was more—
I induced her to alter her name;
And I still buy my coats at the very same store,
And she loves me as ever the same.

OLIVER & KIFFIN remember them—Pantaloons and Vests, too.

$500 CHALLENGE.

WHATEVER concerns the health and happiness of the people is at all times of the most valuable importance. I take it for granted that every person will do all in their power to save the lives of their children, and that every person will endeavor to promote their own health at all sacrifices. I feel it my duty to solemnly assure you that WORMS, according to the opinion of the most celebrated Physicians, are the primary causes of a large majority of diseases to which children and adults are liable. If you have an appetite continually changeable from one kind of food to another, Bad Breath, Pain in the Stomach, Picking at the Nose, Hardness and Fullness of the Belly Dry Cough, Sore Fever, Pulse Irregular—remember that all these denote WORMS, and you should at once apply the remedy—

HOBENSACK'S WORM SYRUP.

An article founded upon Scientific Principles, compounded with purely vegetable substances, being perfectly safe when taken, and can be given to the most tender infant with decided beneficial effect, where Bowel Complaint and Diarrhœa have made them weak and debilitated. The Tonic properties of my Worm Syrup are such, that it stands without an equal in the catalogue of medicines, in giving tone and strength to the Stomach, which makes it an infallible Remedy for those afflicted with DYSPEPSIA. The astonishing cures performed by this syrup, after physicians have failed, is the best evidence of its superior efficacy over all others.

THE TAPE WORM.

This is the most difficult Worm to destroy of all that infest the human system: it grows to an almost incredible length, becoming so coiled and fastened in the intestines and stomach, effecting the health so sadly as to cause St. Vitus Dance, Fits, &c., and those afflicted seldom if ever suspect that it is Tape Worm increasing to cause an early grave. In order to destroy this Worm, a very energetic treatment must be pursued; it would, therefore, be proper to take 6 or 8 of my Liver Pills, so as to remove all obstructions, that the Worm Syrup may act direct upon the Worm, which it must be taken in doses of two tablespoonfuls three times a day. These directions followed have never been known to fail in curing the most obstinate case of TAPE WORM.

And you cannot be indifferent to this appeal. Humanity calls upon you to do your duty. It is only one out of the many thousands who have seen its wonderful effects.

Dr. J. N. HOBENSACK—Sir: Gratitude to you, the inventor of so highly valuable medicines, prompts this humble testimony in its favor, as being a safe, positive, yet powerfully effectual remedy for Worms. Having had much experience in knowing the effects of various preparations, my wife, who was well skilled in ministering to children in infancy, pronounced it the best she had ever used, and would not use other when yours could be had.

A daughter of ours became seriously ill-dosed. Her symptoms were alarming, but her mother at once sought for a remedy in the ingredients of which they are composed makes them the best Pill in use for all diseases of the Liver, Impurities of the Blood, &c. We say this not only from our own judgment, but also from that of the best medical authority in the United States. All diseases requiring an Alterative, a DIAPHORETIC and PURGATIVE MEDICINE, that came under our notice, has been treated with the above Pills with the most satisfactory success.

To Country Merchants!!

THE production of ready-made garments having been reduced to a perfect system, and the experience of past years having established the fact that there is a great and growing demand throughout the States, for the article of

Ready-Made Clothing,

It has become an important and profitable part of the country merchant's stock. Garments of every description, suited to all sections of the country, and of the most approved style and manufacture. I am prepared to sell my Clothing on such terms as will enable merchants as will give them facilities not here-to-fore enjoyed in this market.

☞ Rumors are afloat that this government has made an offer to purchase the Island of Cuba.—Perhaps it's bet er to get it of Spain by a moder ate expenditu e of money, than to prolong the present conditiou of things: but it must be recollected that the United States can never recognise the right of purchase or conquest. We should stultify our elves by purchasing, or attempting to purchase the sovereignty of a community of freemen. According to our first lesson on the science of government, the sovereignty of the Island of Cuba belongs to the people of that Island; and without their consent, we at least cannot ob ain it. We can only offer Spain a consideration in cash, if she will acknowledge the independence of Cuba. Then it will remain for the people of Cuba and the United States to deride whether Cuba shall be a State of this Union.

It may be said that we have made acquisitions by purchase; but we have only purchased land or unsettled territory, with only a few semi-savage inhabitants We have not in any case acquired a community with an enlightened government orgauization, without the cousent of the people; nor can we do it without a gross departure from the principles of our government.

We are aware that the action of governments seldom accord precisely with any theory. A substantial adhesion to theory is all that can be expected. The form may not be asserted, perhaps. If Spain will relinquish Cubn for a consideration, she may sell, although we could acquire no tit e thereby without the vote of those in whom we must recognise the sovereignty of the Island to be.

It would be our interest, however, to secure the independence of Cuba by any moderate ex penditure of means, and run all risks. If the people there preterred to remain Independent, our great object would be accomplished, worthy the fame of the model Republic. We should relieve a people suffering under the most odious despotism from their oppressions, and aid them in establishing free and liberal institutions. This would be no less our interest than our duty. We should no doubt be soundly abused for it by the hireling papers of all Europe. We should not get the slightest credit for our generosity. It would be at once anticipated that Cuba was to fall in as another State in the galaxy of the Union, and it would be assumed that we had other designs in any act upon the subject.

It is not to be expected that other governments could understand us if they would, or that they would if they could. They will ascribe the extension of our area to ambition or lust of power. Let them mouth over their folly as much as they please. We are not responsible to crowned heads, nor any other species of fogyism One community after another will inscribe its name upon the flag of our Union, because its people prefer to do so. They thereby secure their freedom—enlarge and fortify their rights, and lose nothing. They have a guarantee of their right to govern themselves. They are no longer the sport of tyrants, robbed of liberty and property at the arbitrary will of despots. Let despots rail at the process. They add province after province to their dominions when they can, and acknowledge no law but that of force. By force they get what they can; by force they keep what they get. Our country grows by its liberality—adjoin ng ones seek to share in its rights, its privileges, and its renown.

If Spain had any discretion, she might long retain Cuba. If she would give the people there a Constitution and security for free institutions—this would attach the people of Cuba to the Spanish crown for a long time to come. Such a policy, however, would be a miracle on the part of Spain. She has no comprehension of such means; and perhaps it would be fatal to her government at home. At any rate it is not to be expected. Spain will go in her despotic course; she understands no other. The people of Cuba will go on suffering until they prefer death to slavery. Indeed, the struggle which is in the end to produce a change in the government of that Island, has already begun. A vigilant and searching despotism may hide the evidence of it in the dungeon, and hush the voice of witnesses by the ga rote and the scaffold. Long and bloody may be the war to independence, without the interference of this country; but shall we stand by idle spectators and see the right trodden underfoot for gen erations? Nothing could excuse such indifference to the wrongs of an oppressed people. The heartless, inhumen and bloody process should be stopped. It is enough that we have the power to put an end to it; and we should do it peaceably if we can—forcibly if we must.

FICKLENESS OF THE PEOPLE.—This we often hear of; but those who are accustomed to examine election returns for years, would rather appreciate the persistent obstiuacy of the people.—Take up the vote of any State by counties, and trace it out for years, and it maintains the same character. The changes, compared with the mass, are insignificant. A county generally maintains its character as whig or democratic, without a change for more than a trifling per cent. for a long succession of years. Sometimes extraordinary changes in appearance, take place. A State shifts from one side in politics, to another; but this often takes place by a change of not more than one vote in fifty; and very rarely of one in twenty, and frequently by a failure to vote, without any change at all. The election just past, shows a large democratic majority in most of the States; but a change of one vote in twenty in New York, for example, would have reversed the matter. Generally the change in votes of the mass of the people, even slight as it is, can be accounted for, without supposing the people are fickle. To be sure there are some of no political character, who vote any way for no reason; but they make a very insignificant part of the votes of this Union.

☞ The new Constitution of Louisiana makes the basis of legislative apportionment, the whole population, black as well as white. This gives the negro a representation, as well as a white man; or rather, it gives to the slave holding districts five more than their proportion in the legislature.

☞ It is strange that a dozen chairs, or some such matter, cannot be furnished our boats by Louisville, without the same being claimed as a Louisville boat by the papers of that city.
New Albany Tribune.

Now hold your gabble, Mr. Editor; New Albany is only a one horse town. Don't you know you had to import six hundred votes from Louisville at the October election; and that then you had hardly as many votes as Madison and Indianapolis? How can you build boats without our help, when you can't even vote without it?

☞ Godey's Lady's Book, for December, has come to hand. It is a good number—one or two pages not as well printed as they ought to be.

☞ Thos. F. Meagher, Esq., has been invited by a large number of the most respectable citizens of New York to deliver a public lecture in that city.

VEILED VOCALIST.—The newest notion of Boston, is a lady who, calling herself the "Veiled Vocalist," sings at the Melodeon, and gives he proceeds of her concerts to the paupers.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.—Elections are being made to complete the library room by the next session of Congress. Much of the iron work has been erected, and mechanics continue their operations until a late hour each night.

THE RESULT IN N. YORK CITY.—At the late election the whigs of New York City elected four constables out of forty; three assistant aldermen out of twenty; one assemblyman out of sixteen; and two assessors out of twenty.

ZINC FOR SHIP BUILDING.—It is stated that a small vessel of about 100 tons burthen, to be called the "Comic le Hon," has been constructed at Nantz, of zinc, by way of testing the adaptation of that metal to ship building.

☞ Frederick R Gilfiog, Esq, of Guilford, Conn., who died at the Astor House in N York on the 13th ult, by his will bequeathed to the American Colonization Society, $2,000; Bible Society, $1,000; Home Missionary Society, $1,000.

☞ Capt. Pretzmen, of the steamer Forest Queen, came near losing his life at Cincinnati, on Wednesday night, by slipping in the river while in the act of stepping from one wharf boat to another. He escaped with much exertion, without any further damage than a very sudden plunge bath.

☞ Large quantities of Northern fruit trees are now being shipped to the Southern States. One shipper, Mr. Cutlen, of Cincinnati, shipped in two days last week, twenty thousand trees. Every variety of fruit is sought from the hardy apple to the delicate nectarine.

EXPEDITION TO ST. DOMINGO AND CUBA.—In regard to expeditious to St. Domiugo and Cuba, the New York Courier, a paper which appears to be in the secret, says:

"There has been an expedition organised to go to St. Domingo, but it consists of hundreds instead of thousands. What is the ultimate object of the emigrants, is known to nobody, probably not even to themselves. Most certain it is, that if there is any filibusterism in these proceedings, it is entirely disconnected with the Cuba move ment.

"That there is an expedition—a formidable expedition, in which thousands of men are enlisted—now prepared to sail for Cuba whenever the signal shall be given by the leaders, is also a fixed fact. But the object of these men is solely the disruption of Cuba from the Spanish govern ment They have not the least connection with the St Domingo affair.

"As to the Cuban expedition. we learn 'from an undoubted source' that it is in a forward state of preparation, and it is represented that the utmost care has been taken by the leaders not to violate the neutrality laws of the United States All the arms and ammunition required, have been procured abroad in large quantities, and are now deposited without the bounds of the United States, in a depot known only to a few of the leading spirits. Not even a pop gun has been procured in the United States. The men are to leave this country as emigrants—unarmed—and will sail from different ports; and, it is calculated, in such a manner that no suspicion shall go abroad as to their actual destination. The measures of the revolutionists have been taken with great circumspection, and it is only to be feared that those who embark in this expedition will meet the bloody fate of their predecessors."

LOOK-OUT SLAVE-HOLDERS!

A correspondent of the Maysville Eagle, under date of Nov. 8th, says:

I understand a mass meeting, consisting of the Slave holders of the counties of Mason and Bracken, are to meet at Minerva, on the 16th inst. to take some steps for the further protection of Slavery in the two counties. I cheerfully concur in the propriety of the proposed meeting, and trust you will urge through your paper a general attendance.

A recent trip through Ohio, thence to Canada, in pursuit of fugitives, has enebled me to collect such information as is calculated to excite our alarm for the safety of our slaves, and for the great importance of some well matured and disciplined code of procedure in pursuing and arresting them. During a part of the week I remained in Sandusky, upwards of thirty fugitives crossed the Lake. On my way to Malden the Captain of the Arrow, running from Sandusky to Detroit, told me that in the last two months, over two hundred had crossed from the State of Kentucky alone. I have just received a letter from Mr. Stroupe, upon the border of the Lake, who states that the number crossing is nightly increasing, and on Monday night last eighteen crossed at a single trip; the same week forty-odd crossed at Cleveland.

Take the losses of the counties of Mason, Bracken, Pendleton and Boone, amounting to some seventy-odd slaves, and you will readily perceive, allowing a fair allowance from other counties, what an immense loss the State has sustained in the last two months. Out of the seventy-odd slaves, from the above counties, I believe only three have been taken in the State of Ohio.

The night I crossed the Lake to Canada, there were several fugitives upon the boat As soon as the boat was under way I introduced myself (as who or what, I will not say for the present) to a shrewd sensible negro, who proved to be from Louisville, and was the property of Mr Ford, of Owenton. I will pass over the narrative of the trip, which was peculiarly interesting to me, except to say, that he broke the lock of a skiff at a saw mill above Louisville, crossed in it, made his way to Cincinnati, there took the cars and landed at Sandusky, in a week from the time he left. I enquired of this boy what influence was brought to bear on him to induce him to runaway; whether free negroes, or my white friends from Ohio, travelling about in Kentucky, had advised him the course to pursue. To this inquiry I could not get a satisfactory answer, nor could I from any with whom I talked. He said frankly however, that he had intended to run off ever since they took the vote in the S ate whether the negroes should be free or not, meaning the Emancipation move. I enquired if the negroes generelly, were not pretty well as isfied, and said but little about running off—he told me that nearly all he knew of, were making up their minds to leave; several wanted to go with him and his wife, but he told them to scatter out, or so many together would be caught. He remarked that he had found out it was "wrong to serve a master," and that the "reading negroes told him that it was against the Bible" He further stated that next Summer there would be an "awful lumbering of the darkies to the free grounds." In my intercourse with the negroes in Malden, who had lately crossed, I gathered the same ideas---a yellow boy and his wife from Poplar-Plains---Respess' boy from Maysville, and others told me, if not this month, next summer there would be a general rush. If this information was from a single negro, it might be questionable; but as the same ideas in reference to leaving, and the determination of their acquaintances to follow, comes from different ones, and from different sections, we may rightfully apprehend that some disastrous under-current has been at work in the State---which we, as slaveholders must meet, and MEET IT NOW!

The Dying Miner's Lament.

Afar from my home and the scenes of my childhood,
O'er the mountain and wave I have wandered away;
And here, 'mid these sands, these rocks, and this wild wood,
Is wasting, in sickness, my last lingering day.

Pond mem'ry oft whispers, in accents of sadness,
Of home, and of friends, and of joys left behind;
My wife—my dear children—their voices of gladness—
My lond, doting mother, now dwells on my mind.

How fondly I hoped in the bosom of home
To have spent the rich treasures I gleaned from the sand,
But, ah! sad affliction end sorrow have come,
And doomed me to die in this far distant land.

I have toiled in the valleys—I have delved in the hills—
The streams and the bars I have prospected o'er—
The wild dashing Yuba, and the deep flowing rills,
The gulches and ravines will see me no more.

By Yuba's bright waters, then, softly inter me;
The friends I love best cannot stand round my bier—
No mother to sorrow, no wife to deplore me,
Or shed on my grave a last lingering tear.

The tempest may howl, and the storms may beat o'er me,
I shall not be disturbed by the loud thunder's roar;
But gentl'y I'll sleep, though my friends are far from me—
My dear native land, I shall see thee no more.

GOLD RUN MILD, Sept. 16, 1852.

Little Sue.

Dear little Sue, with her eyes so blue,
And her tresses of golden hair,
Her cheeks that rivalled the peach's hue,
And her lips so red and so fair.
How her silver tongue so joyously rung,
When watching, she hailed with delight,
My evening's return, while on my neck she hung,
Lisping her prayer and good night.

Poor little Sue, no more shall I view
From the casement her beautiful face,
Nor welcome at eve, for she bade adieu,
And vacant, and silent, her place;
Under the ground, where yon green mound
Covers a grave small and new,
In a sleep so sweet, so quiet and sound,
Rests my gentle, my angel Sue.

To the Planters and Shippers of Tobacco.

THE undersigned have leased that well-known, long established, commodious, and popular Warehouse known as "POPE'S TOBACCO WAREHOUSE," centrally located, on the corner of Seventh and Main streets; the same is now in complete order in every particular for the reception of Tobacco.

We pledge ourselves to those who may favor us with their business that we will give it our undivided attention, and spare no exertion to promote their interest. All Tobacco sent to us shall be as well attended to as if accompanied by the owner. We will strictly obey the directions of the owner, and dispose of his Tobacco in any manner he may choose. When sold, the money shall be immediately remitted or paid as directed.—There are now three Inspectors of Tobacco, who are alone authorized under the law to inspect the same in the city of Louisville. The Inspectors will attend at each Warehouse daily for that purpose.

Louisville is now the third Tobacco market in the United States, and is constantly increasing. During the last year there were sold here about 35,000 hogsheads. The mo erate charges for storage, cooperage, inspection, selling, and all other incidental expenses, have made this market the cheapest in the United States; and the prompt sales, with out any commission for receiving and paying over the money to the planters, have justly entitled it to their confidence. We will continue to do business on the same principles, and on as good terms as can be done in the city.

Among the evident advantages of this market are the facilities now afforded for shipment by the river and the various railroads, convers ng to this point the large accumulation of capital in the hands of buyers from every part of the Union, and the extensive manufacturing establishments located in our city.

The planter may always rely on active competition, ready sales, and prompt payments. We have ample room at Todd's Warehouse for all the Tobacco that may be sent us, and we confidently believe we will make it to the interests of planters and shippers to give us their business, and refer them to the following gentlemen as an assurance that we are worthy of their confidence. Our address is Gallagher & Ronald.

VISITING CARDS.

THERE has been a profusion of this article in the market for some time past. These itinerants, who card with so much assiduity such work as this, and who even call forth the muses, have a fine time of it, and will probably continue to card (if not kill as they would the King's English) "as long as business is good!" ("Will you have anything in that way, sir?") Notwithstanding watery eyes, which, like years, perplex the genius of a young man who wrote more than a quarter of a century ago, in which the ladies take so lively an interest; and they may rest assured that, until his eyes grow much worse, they shall have Cards which no fair one shall blush to leave as her address.

Last Night of the Campbell Minstrels.

BENEFIT OF MONS. E. PANOZA. Our citizens will doubtless regret to learn that the Campbell Minstrels give their last entertainment in our city to night. On this occasion Mons. M. Leon Espanosa, the ballet dancer, takes a benefit:—The Campbells during their short sojourn with us, we are sorry to say, have not met with the success they so richly deserve. The company is unquestionably the very best, in every respect, that has ever visited our city, and in any other place but Louisville, would have played to overflowing houses. A splendid programme is offered to-night. Mons. Espanosa appears in a variety of dances, an excellent selection of songs, the laughable burlesque of the "Black Snakes," and a grand "terpsichoreon divertisement" forms the balance of the programme. Take our advice, and go to Mozart Hall to-night.

TAXES FOR 1852.—The total valuation of real and personal property, says the Cincinnati Atlas, in Hamilton county is $68,845,544, of this, $52,462,110 belongs to the city. The State tax in Cincinnati is $183,617,39 The property in the Trust Department of the Ohio Life and Trust Co. is valued at $1,918,330, tax upon this $19,330,37.

The amount of property in the county, of which the owners refused to swear to the assessment, and to which fifty per cent has been added, is $2,642,229.

The town of Cumminsville, in Mill Creek township, pays the highest rate per cent. in the county, viz: 18 mills. Cincinnati pays 16 1 2 mills. Colerain and Anderson townships pay the lowest rates, viz: 7 1 4 mills.

Within the corporate limits of Cincinnati there are 1,034 acres of land not yet laid off into building lots.

We call attention to the card of Joseph Griffith, importer, manufacturer, and dealer in Guns, Pistols, Gun Materials, and Fishing Tackle. Steamer Amanda.

Names of the Uneduoated Deaf Mutes in each county in Kentucky.

Messrs Editors:—The assessors of tax in Kentucky have been required by law, for several years past, to return a list of the names of the deaf mutes and the blind in each county in the State, and more recently to return also their nearest post-offices. These requisitions have been faithfully complied with, so far as the mutes are concerned, by a number of the assessors; while by others they have been neglected—especially the last requirement mentioned, the names of their nearest post-offices. The information, however, which has been obtained, will be very valuable, making the people of each county acquainted with the existence and names of these unfortunates, who have hitherto dwelt in their very midst unknown and uncared for. Their names are given to the public with the hope that intelligent and philanthropic persons will interest themselves in having them placed in the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Danville. Without such interference and interest, most of them are destined to pass their lives in ignorance and helplessness, while an Institution exists in the State with its doors wide open for their reception. There are now almost within a days' ride of this Institution, a larger number of uneducated mutes than have been in it the past year from the whole State, and the neighboring States, which have no Institution of their own. So negligent, culpably negligent, are many parents of the unfortunate deaf and dumb, that they will suffer them to live and die in the grossest ignorance, when the means of their improvement is near at hand. This arises, for the most part, from want of intelligence in the parents, who are frequently poor and uniformed.

Benevolent gentlemen are earnestly requested to interest themselves in behalf of those in their respective counties. Many of those who have been educated in the State, are indebted for their education to some kind and intelligent neighbor, who has caused them to be sent to the Institution. There are yet in the State, it is painful to say, a larger number of mutes uneducated, than have been educated since the establishment of the Institution at Danville, which is now in its twenty-ninth year.

SINGULAR FACT.—A Southern journal has the following:—In Saturday's Constitution a paragraph appeared, stating that an inquest had been held on the body of a man, named William Duke, a carpenter, who was drowned in the Mardyke stream While the body lay at the Bridewell, poor Duke's wife and daughter called to see it before the inquest, and left the Bridewell with tears and lamentations. They returned home, and the inquest was held—the Coroner thinking it unnecessary to call for the evidence of the mourners—and the jury came to a verdict "that the deceased William Duke, was accidentally drowned." When the wife and daughter returned home what was their astonishment to see him whom they thought they had just seen dead, alive and well, warming himself comfortably by the fire. The frightened women for some time refused to believe the evidence of their senses; and it was not until some neighbors called in and effected a mutual understanding between the parties, that anything like quiet was restored. At length, after some explanations, it appeared that the deceased was not William Duke, who had been away from home, and had only that evening returned. Who the deceased really was no one knows. Duke, on learning that he was supposed to be drowned, was exceeding angry at the stupidity of his wife; and it was with much difficulty the neighbors, who had come in to comfort the widow and orphans, effected a complete reconciliation.

CAUGHT IN THE FACT.—A certain notable housewife had observed that her stock of pickled cockles were running remarkably low, and spoke to the cook in consequence, who alone had access to them. The cook's character was at stake; unwilling to give warning with such an imputation on her self-denial, not to say honestly, she nevertheless felt that all confidence between her mistress and herself was at an end. One day the jar containing the evanescent condiment being placed, as usual, on the dresser, while she was busily engaged in basting a joint before the fire, she happened to turn suddenly round, and beheld, to her great indignation a favorite magpie, remarkable for his conversational powers, and general intelligence, perched by its side, and dipping its beak down the open neck with every sympton of gratification. The mystery was explained—the thief detected.—Grasping the ladle of scalding grease, which she held in her hand, the exasperated cook dashed the whole contents over the helpless pet, accompanied by the exclamation, "Oh, d—e, you've been at the pickled cockles, have you?" Poor Mag, of course was dreadfully burnt; most of his feathers came off, leaving his little round pate, which had caught the principal part of the volley, entirely bare.—The poor bird moped about, lost all spirits, and never spoke for a year. At length, when he had pretty well recovered, and was beginning to chatter again, a gentleman called at the house, who, on taking off his hat, disclosed a very bald head.—The magpie, who happened to be in the room, appeared evidently struck by the circumstance; his reminiscences were powerfully excited by the naked appearance of the gentleman's skull. Hopping upon the back of his chair, and looking him hastily over, he suddenly exclaimed in the ear of his astounded visitor, "Oh, d—e, you've been at the pickled cockles, have you?"—Ingoldsby Legends.

Indian Summer.

The re is a time, just ere the frost
Prppares to pave old Winter's way,
When autumn, in a reverie lost,
The mellow daytime dreams away.

When summer comes in musing mind,
To gaze once more on hill and dell,
To mark how many sheaves they bind,
To see if all is ripened well.

With balmy breath she whispers low,
The dying flowers look up and give
Their sweetest incense ere they go,
For her who made their beauties live.

She enters 'neath the woodland shade,
Her sephyrs lift the lingering leaf,
And bear it gently where are laid
The loved and lost ones of its grief.

She seeks the shore, old Ocean heaves
In gladness huge his mighty breast;
Prisons his wild winds in the leaves,
And basking in their smiles, is blest.

And last old autumn, rising, takes
Again his sceptre and his throne,
With boisterous hands the trees he shakes,
Intent on gathering all his own.

Sweet summer, sighing, flies the plain,
And wailing winter, gaunt and grim,
Sees miser autumn hoard his grain,
And smiles to think it's all for him,

MY SCISSORS.

BY FRANCES DANAGAGE.

"Good morning Mrs. Wick; hope I see you well, this morning."

Well, yes, pretty well, all but my hands."

"Your hands! what's the matter with your hands; not been scalding them I hope?"

No! worse than that, I got them all blistered up trying to cut out the children's fall clothes, with my old scissors. I've had 'em these ten years, and they're just as dull as a hoe, and every time I cut a roundabout, shirt, or pair of pants, I have such a time of it. Susan Willard is sewing for me now, and I wanted to get my cutting done while my hand was in, so I just wanted to see if you would not lend me your nice's large tailor shears, a day or two, for I won't do another thing with mine for a week to come."

"Really, Mrs. Wick, I would like to accommodate you, but I am very busy with mine just now, cutting rags for my carpet, and could not possibly spare them without great inconvenience."

"Well, I don't know what I'll do; I can't cut out any more with mine, and Susan has only two weeks to stay. Do you know of any one that has a good pair?"

"No, I do not. Would it not be better for you to purchase a good pair? I could hardly get along without mine for a single day, without feeling the want of them."

"What did yours cost?"

"Two dollars and a half."

"Two dollars and a half—goodness!—Mr. Wicks would no more let me have money to buy such a pair of scissors, than he'd fly."

"Oh, I think you are mistaken, I have always thought Mr. Wicks very indulgent."

"There's where you are altogether mistaken. I hardly ever ask him for money, but what he says something to hurt my feelings, and I often do without things I really need, rather than have any words. Why, yes, to-day I asked him for money to get my full trimmings for my bonnet and Rosina's, and it was all I could do to get it out of him—"

"How much did it require to fit your bonnets up for winter?"

"Only five dollars; it would cost ten, you know, to get us both new ones; I thought he need not have complained at fixing up the old ones."

"And you have the five dollars in your possession—"

"Yes, and we have thought we could get trimmings at Grant's. The beautiful royal purple with the orange edge, it's a love of a ribbon, and so cheap, only seventy-five cents a yard."

"My dear Mrs. Wicks, let me give you a new idea. Would your husband complain if you should trim your bonnet with ribbon worth half that sum, and appropriate the balance to the purchase of a good pair of scissors?"

"No, of course he would not; but who, I'd like to know, is going to make themselves the town talk for the sake of gratifying a husband's whims."

"Do it to gratify yourself, to add to your own comfort. My bonnet, trimmings and all will not cost over one dollar and a half, and I don't believe the town will trouble itself one bit about it. Town talk or no talk, you may be sure I'll never run about with my fingers in rags while I can save the price of a pair of scissors in one bonnet trimming. Now, don't be offended, Mrs. Wicks; I know you really think you can't get along any other way than just as you do; but if you will only make the effort to economise in your items of dress, &c., you will soon find yourself amply supplied with all these little household conveniences which you seem so much to want; and a word for it, your husband will not make half the objections to furnishing money for usefuls that he now does for non-essentials."

"Now, there is neighbor Pennyman's wife, flourishing in a fifteen dollar crape shawl, but her girl complains that she has to borrow washtubs weekly, and that Mrs. P. says that it is all Mr. Pennyman's fault."

"Why, Mrs. Smith, I thought you was a Woman's Rights woman."

"And so I am; but I assure you I am no advocate for woman's injustice and folly, and while I feel that the law of the land and common justice greatly oppresses woman, I also feel that she oftentimes greatly oppresses herself, and lays heavier burdens upon her own heart, than she herself is willing to bear, and to excuse her own weakness of purpose, her own foolish love of display, lays all the blame upon her husband, who would willingly indulge every reasonable desire, and only frown when ungenerous demands are made upon his means."

"Well, I don't know, Mr. Wicks seems more willing to give me money for dress than anything else."

"Is that not because he does not feel at liberty to deny you any personal gratification; because he feels that he can make you happier thus than in any other way? Try the experiment, Mrs. Wicks; tell him you will reserve half your usual expenses for household conveniences, and if he does not fill your purse with a more cheerful heart, I am much mistaken in him. Begin on the scissors, and if he makes one word of objection I will agree to change with you a week and wear my hands to blisters on your old ones."

"Well, I'll try this once; good morning."

'Good morning, Mrs. Wicks."

Mrs. Wicks went home, and when her husband came into dinner, the first thing that took his attention was a beautiful pair of polished steel scissors, not worth less than two dollars.

"Whose are these? been borrowing again, Sarah?"

'No,' replied Mrs. Wicks; 'I blistered my hands yesterday with my old ones, and I just concluded I would wear my old last winter trimmings, and have me a good pair of scissors for my work.—Don't you think they are nice ones? I thought you would not care how I spent my money.' Her voice was kinder than usual.

'Of course not,' he replied. Nothing further was said. In the evening, instead of going out he drew up his chair by the work-stand.

'Aint yon going down street?' said Rosiana.

'No, I believe not to-night; I like the click of your ma's new scissors, and if I go down street I am afraid they will lose their pleasant tone.'

Mrs. Wicks did not look up, her heart was full; for just then a little roll of 'royal purple with orange edge,' 'cheap at seventy-five cents,' fell into her lap.

R. & T. FAIRBANKS & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF PLATFORM SCALES,

St. Johnsbury, Vt.

AN EXPERIENCE of twenty years has enabled us to correct such defects in Platform Scales as the operation of Counter Levers, when constructed upon Common mechanical principles. These defects can only be known and remedied by long experience and great practical skill. Platform balances, which from inexperience or observer, appear to be exact imitations of our Scales, are often found wholly useless to be very inaccurate.

A great variety of PLATFORM BALANCES are now offered for sale, and many are used, which cannot be relied upon for correct weight. In many instances they will not agree with themselves. Merchants who have used them for months, supposing them correct, have fortunately discovered that a much load, when divided and weighed in small drafts, would vary essentially, in the aggregate, from what was indicated by the same scale when weighed at once. Frequently the same platform will give different weights upon every change of the position of the body weighed. The consequences of these variations are often vexatious, and always involve one party in pecuniary loss.

Certificate of the Inspectors of Weights and Measures in the City of New York, from the year 1833 to 1850.

NEW YORK, MAY, 1815.

We, the undersigned, having had occasion to test the various Platform Scales in use in the City of New York, are pleased to bear our testimony to the superior character of those manufactured by E. & T. Fairbanks & Co., of St. Johnsbury, Vt., and do cheerfully recommend them to the public, as the most perfect weighing machines in use.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 30, 1850.

Messrs. E. & T. Fairbanks & Co.,

We have in use, and many of us have had for quite a number of years, your Patent Platform Scale. It affords us much pleasure to add our testimony to their perfect superiority over everything of the kind within the circle of our acquaintance. And in doing this, we can but acknowledge it a duty, owing you and the business public, to recommend your scale as the only one worthy of trust.

Gentlemen:—We have received and put up the Platform Scales, sent us by order of Dr. Brooks, late Coiner at the Branch Mint, in this place, and after having subjected them to repeated tests, I take pleasure in stating that I find them very accurate, much more so than I had anticipated previous to trial. Considering their capacity and size, I am of opinion that they are more delicate and perfect than any scales I have ever seen.

Very respectfully,

A. DEVAL, Coiner U. S. B. Mint.

WHO Has Good Bread?—Every one wishes to have good Bread, as a bad article is intolerable and unhealthy.

E. H. HAYCRAFT now offers to the public his superior Yeast Powders as a certain and efficacious preparation, warranted to make the very best kind of Bread when good flour is used. The materials used in making the Powders are of the finest and best quality, and are put up in sie-ught tin boxes so as to prevent spoiling or losing their good qualities. They are recommended as equal to any made in the United States, and perfect satisfaction is guaranteed.

The proprietor is desirous that his Powders shall maintain a high reputation for purity and excellence, and therefore requests that in all cases where, after a fair trial, the Powders have failed to give the desired satisfaction, they may be returned to the seller, and the purchase money will be refunded.

These Powders are made of pure materials alone, and not adulterated with other ingredients to increase their bulk, are therefore cheaper, as a less quantity is required to produce the desired effect.

A trial is all that is asked, as the use of a single box is sufficient to convince every one that they are really good and superior.

☞ For sale at wholesale and retail at the manufactory, No. 90 Fourth street, between Main and Market, and will be found in a short time at many of the grocery stores, whose names will be inserted in this advertisement. oc7

WOLFE'S Celebrated Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps, a medicinal diet drink of eminently salutary qualities, manufactured by the proprietor at his factory at Schiedam, in Holland.

It is made from the best barley that can be selected in Europe, and the essence of an aromatic Italian berry, of acknowledged and extraordinary medicinal properties; and it has long since acquired a higher reputation, both in Europe and America, than by any other dietetic beverage.

In Gravel, Gout, and Rheumatism in Obstructions of the Bladder, and Kidneys, and Debility of the Urinary Functions, its effects are prompt, decided, and invariably reliable. And it is not only a remedy for these maladies, but, in all cases in which they are produced by drinking hard water, which is almost universally the cause of them, it operates as a sure preventive.

The distressing effect upon the Stomach, Bowels, and Bladder of travelers, new residents, and all persons unaccustomed to them, produced by the waters of nearly all our great inland rivers, like the Ohio, Mississippi, and Alabama, from the large quantity of decayed vegetable matter contained in them, in a state of solution, is well known; as is also that of the waters of limestone regions, in producing Gravel, Calculi, and Stone in the bladder. The Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps is an absolute corrective of all these injurious properties of bad water, and consequently prevents the diseases which they occasion. It is also found to be a cure and preventive of Fever and Ague, a complaint caused by the conjoint efforts of vegetable matter in the atmosphere and vegetable putrescences in the waters of those districts in which it principally prevails. The Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps is consequently in great demand by persons traveling or about to settle in those parts of the country especially, as well as by many in every community where it has become known, on account of its various other remedial properties.

In all cases of a hepatical tendency, it is generally the only remedy required, when adopted in the early stages of the disease. In Dyspeptic maladies, when taken in proper quantities, as a diet drink, and especially at dinner, it is found, by uniform experience, to be eminently efficacious in the most obstinate cases, when even the best of the usual remedies have failed to afford more than mere temporary relief. In cases of Flatulency, it is an immediate and invariable specific; and it may be administered in diluted and proportionate quantities, even to young infants, in all these paroxysms of griping pain in the stomach and bowels, to which they are especially subject, as well as in the colic of grown persons.

Its judicious adoption in connection with the principal means, or when a sense of exhaustion dictates its use, never fails to relieve the debility attendant upon protracted Chronic maladies, Low Temperaments, and Exhausted Animal Energy, by whatever cause induced.—These are facts to which many of the most eminent medical men, both in Europe and the United States, have borne testimony, and which are corroborated by their highest written authorities.

The Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps is put up in good strong bottles, neatly covered and labeled, accompanied by an essay upon its properties and uses.

Sold at the Depot, 399 West street, and by the principal druggists in this city and the United States.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES PERFORMED BY DR. A. J. VANDERSLICE.

PHILADELPHIA, May 17, 1849.

THIS is to certify that I have long been afflicted with the Dropsy, from which I have suffered much bodily as well as mental pain. I have tried many remedies with scarce any benefit, and applied to several eminent physicians, who promised a speedy cure; but, unfortunately, their promises were never realized. I was induced to try Dr. A. J. VANDERSLICE, whosoon, by his course of treatment, restored me to health. I am induced to make it as public, in hopes that others suffering may consult him with like success.

je20 d&wtf JOHN JOHNSON, Jr.

THIS is to certify that Dr. A. J. VANDERSLICE attended my mother, Frances May, in the months of January last, for a severe attack of Rheumatism, and, after the use of one bottle of Balsam that he gave her, she is at present, and has been since its use, entirely well.

THE undersigned, builders and practical mechanics of the city of Louisville, have examined the work manufactured in the extensive Planing Mill of Messrs. J. N. Their builders' ware rooms contain a very large assortment of Doors, Window Sash, and Venetian Shutters, which we have carefully examined, and do not hesitate to say that they will bear favorable comparison with any work of the kind that we have ever seen. The perfect machinery used by these gentlemen will make as good work as any done by hand.
